Three secret ballots fail to derail school budget

$7 million budget passes 3 to 1

By WENDY HANSCOM

More than 300 people turned out for last week's vote on the SAD44 FY '95 budget, but fewer than a quarter of them wanted it trimmed.

An attempt to cut $300,000 from the $7,018,933 budget was easily defeated.

The majority of voters at the three-hour meeting were district employees and budget supporters.

It was clear early on that the budget would probably pass, but the process was dragged out by three secret ballots.

First on the warrant were three NOVA articles that passed quickly with little discussion.

Voters also approved their share of the foundation allocation (state funds matched by local funds) and the district's debt service with little debate.

But after calling for a secret ballot, Pat Doonen of Bethel attempted to cut $300,000 from proposed addition local funds.

In a May 18 letter to the editor of the Bethel Citizen, Doonen wrote that the board had considered, and then rejected, eliminating $300,000 from the budget.

Board chairman Margaret Hand told the audience that Doonen's information was incorrect.

"I will categorically stand here and tell you that we never cut $300,000 out of this budget, never," Hand said. "I don't know where the writer got their information, but it is incorrect. So whatever you do, I don't want this board accused of cutting money, and it seeming as though we can now afford to do this -- $300,000 would devastate this budget. We're talking about a lot of teachers and programs that would go."

Condom comics to join battle against teen AIDS

Telstar and other schools are considering G'wood man's idea

By WENDY HANSCOM

A Greenwood businessman and a Vermont cartoonist are hoping their "Condom Comics" will help teenagers nationwide grapple with the "touchy subject" of teen sexuality.

Rick Savage of Greenwood came up with the idea for "Condom Comics" after watching a television news segment on why more Americans don't use condoms.

Savage contacted cartoonist Mark Hughes of Jericho, Vt., who wrote and drew the first comic book, in what promoters hope will be a long, successful line of books dealing with teenage sexuality and other sometimes controversial issues.

The book is currently being used in a pilot program in Vermont, and Telstar High School in Bethel may incorporate the comic into its health studies program. High schools in Portland and Falmouth are also looking at it.

"I feel it's going to answer a lot of questions that people have a hard time asking," Savage said. "I don't think this is something the average American family is talking about like they should."

The first comic book, entitled "To be in Johnny Campbell's Shoes," takes a quick look at a variety of teen issues -- HIV/AIDS, sexuality, homophobia, gender bias, condom use, substance abuse, what is love, monogamy, and more.

Aimed at 15 to 17 year olds, the book talks frankly about teenage sex and related issues. Characters in the book talk about relationships, having sex, abstaining from sex and safer sex.

The comic also explores the characters' reaction to fellow student, Johnny Campbell, after he is diagnosed as HIV positive.

Savage said he thinks teens will be more apt to read the comic book than a brochure or pamphlet.

Hughes, a free-lance artist, and Savage hope to eventually sell color comic books, with condoms enclosed, to drug stores and other retailers for about $3.

Since the comic book covers issues that are considered by some to be highly controversial, Hughes said he worked closely with awareness groups and high school teachers. The first draft of the comic book was a little too direct, Hughes said, and was revised.

"The first edition was very direct and I mellowed it," Hughes said. "I took all this information I gathered and wrote a story around it."

To write the comic book, Hughes used research material, brochures and pamphlets from Planned Parenthood, Vermont Cares, an AIDS educational council; materials supplied by Vermont public school health educators and any

Gould's 1994 graduates go forth

A Vermont judge and a Bridgton valedictorian gave keynote addresses as 57 graduates received diplomas last Saturday at Gould Academy.

The Honorable Brian L. Burgess, father of graduate Brian T. Burgess, used the excuses he hears from criminals of all kinds as an example to society's tendency to place blame on others, and asked the seniors to make personal accountability a top priority.

Valedictorian Gwen Stockwell's remarks were inspired by Henry Thoreau's advice that what we do and who we are are more important than the pursuit of material gain.

Alan B. Ordway of Bridgton, chairman of the Gould Academy board of trustees, and Headmaster William P. Clough III presented diplomas to the Academy's 158th graduating class.

Judge Burgess' son Brian received the Anne Daley Courschesne Award for Service. Parents from as far away as Spain, Korea, Sweden, and Japan attended the ceremony.

A list of Gould's 1994 graduates and photos of Commencement Weekend can be found on pages 3 through 6.

Sunday River skis into June

But it's over today

By MICHAEL DANIELS

For the first time in its history, Sunday River Ski Resort has skied into June.

Resort officials believe this marks the first time that any Maine ski area has skied this late in the year.

But with the patches of mud on White Heat outstretching the remaining patches of snow, today will be the last of the 1993-94 season.

The resort, which opened to the public for skiing on Oct. 11, racked up 234 days of skiing this season, more than a month more than in any

Telstar in playoffs

A strong late season finish should put the Telstar High School baseball team (9-3) in next week's Western Maine Class C playoffs.

The boys could earn enough Heat points to bypass the June 7 preliminary round. A win today at home (4 p.m.) would help put them directly into the June 9 quarter-final playoff game.

Planners OK Main Street professional building

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Planning Board moved ahead last week in its review of a number of development proposals.

By a vote of 6-1 the board approved plans for the DeMarco professional building on lower Main Street.

The dissenting vote was cast by Stan Howe, who was concerned that the windows planned for the new building were not in keeping with the surrounding building styles.

The approval included waivers of the town setback requirements. The new building will be allowed to be set back only 15 feet from the property line on the side of the building and 18 feet in the north corner.

The setback waivers were approved unanimously, with the general agreement of the board that they would allow the building to blend in more harmoniously with its surroundings.

The approval was conditional on a subsequent review of the building's signs and approval by the state fire marshal.

The board also discussed Patty Thurston's plans for a similar conversion in the Lynn Mason home, two houses up the street from the DeMarco project.

Thurston said that in addition to converting the buildings (a barn and home) to retail and office space, she planned to restore the structures to their historic appearance and attempt to have them listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

However, Melody Bonnema, whose home and business abuts the Mason property, raised concerns about headlights from the business traffic and the loss of privacy in her yard.

The board agreed to walk the property this week, and Thurston said later she will meet with Bonnema to discuss her concerns.

The board also accepted as complete the application for the J&R

The four candidates -- Harry J. Faulkner, Jane Rolfe Lowe, Larry G. Smith and Richard H. Whitney -- are expected to field questions on topics, including: Bethel Station and its impact on the region, economic and job development, the Airport Industrial Park, use of grants to support development, waste disposal, education, local taxes and zoning.

Members of the audience will be encouraged to fill in cards with their own questions, which will be sorted and then asked by one of the four panelists.

MEMORIAL DAY MARCHERS pass by Bethel's Civil War monument Monday, on their way to ceremonies on the town common. Bethel's ceremonies were among several held in area towns to commemorate those who served in our country's wars and conflicts. The guest speaker at Bethel's ceremony was Vietnam-era veteran Brian Strickland, who reminded listeners of the dangers, including biological weapons, faced by those who served. Many veterans, he noted, still suffer the aftereffects of those encounters. Other participants in Monday's ceremonies included Bud Paine, Mundt-Allen Post chaplain; Delma McMillin, commander of Bethel VFW Post 11363; Jane Lowe of the Mundt-Allen Auxiliary; and Poppy Girl Carolyn Strickland.

NOVA CARS NOT SCHOOL-OWNED

To the Editor:

We at NOVA are aware of the difficult economic times that homes, communities and schools find themselves in at this time. We thank the voters of SAD44 for their continued support of Vocational Region 9 and its programs.

During discussions held with me at the recent District budget meeting, the topic of school-owned vehicles arose. The question was if the Dodge mini van that I drive is owned by NOVA. The answer is that the van is owned by my wife and I as our family vehicle. In an effort to make N.O.V.A. more viable, Mr. Hart, student services director; Mr. George Krolne, community education director; and myself have magnetic signs for our personal vehicles. N.O.V.A. does reimburse each of us at the rate of 22 cents per mile for work-related travel from our Rumford/Mexico offices.

RUNNING FOR SELECTMAN

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to introduce myself to The Citizen's readers. My name is Rick Whitney and I am one of four candidates for the seat of selectman in the Town of Bethel.

I graduated from Telstar Regional High School in 1976 and the University of Maine Orono in business management in 1980. I have owned and operated Maine Line Products -- a gift distribution business since starting the company in 1979.

I am married to the former Ellen Lovejoy and have two young children. Over the past 15 years I have served on and am currently serving on various town committees including Bethel Rec Board, Site Plan Update Committee and boards of directors for other local civic groups.

I do not associate the position of selectman with any particular political party. I believe the primary attribute needed in a selectman is the ability to learn new information and reach common sense decisions about a variety of issues.

If anyone would like to know which way I would vote on any of the looming issues, please feel free to contact me, and I urge everyone to attend the candidates forum to be held on June 1 at Telstar.

SPEND THE FOURTH IN BETHEL

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with businesses throughout the area, is planning to bring the Fourth of July back to Bethel this year with a celebration planned from July 1 through July 4.

We are incorporating the 5th Annual Bethel Art Fair with the festival, but we are offering a wide variety of other activities as well. The four-day celebration will start on Friday evening, July 1, with an auction on the common to benefit the Mahoosuc Land Trust. Saturday morning the Bethel Art Fair, which will include fine crafts will start at 9 a.m. and run through Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. A local young artists' exhibit will also be part of the show this year. The Mahoosuc Arts Council is providing musical entertainment from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday. There will be children's art activities ongoing throughout both days, as well as a caricaturist. From 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, there will be field games for kids of all ages on the Gould Academy field. At 4 p.m. or so, a duck race will be held, with prizes for the first 20 or so ducks that cross the finish line. We will be selling duck (rubber) chances in upcoming weeks.

Other tentative activities still in the planning stages are an architectural tour of the National Historic District, a children's entertainer and a patriotic musical performance. The evening will end with a set of fireworks, sponsored by the Bethel Inn and shot off from their golf course.

Monday, the Bethel Historical Society invites area residents and visitors to enjoy a community picnic and the Portland Brass Quintet starting at noon on the Moses Mason grounds.

All the above activities are for everyone's enjoyment, so no one feels they have to leave Bethel to find something to do on the Fourth of July Weekend. We are looking for folks who are interested in helping in any way they can to make this celebration successful. Please call the chamber office at 824-2282 with questions or if you can volunteer up to two hours doing a variety of jobs on July 2 or 3.

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

CASTING A BUDGET VOTE--Newry ballot clerk Nancy Wight looks on as Dick Carter of Bethel votes on the SAD44 FY '95 budget. More than 300 people turned out for last week's budget meeting. The three secret ballots took more than an hour to count, slowing, but not stopping, the eventual approval of the budget.

Budget

Dooen said she got her information from a school board member.

"I got that figure from a board member and I should have used the word considered," Dooen said. "I was told there was a committee set up to recommend cuts, and they were considered, and that figure was $300,000. If I was misinformed by one of your own board members then I apologize."

Dooen then asked what specifically the board did consider cutting.

"I suppose we're talking about semantics," replied Superintendent of Schools Ronald Jenkins. "It would be no more accurate to talk about the board looking at a recommendation of $300,000 worth of cuts than to talk about the board looking at recommending a cut of (the entire budget). In the five months during which this budget was put together, everything in this budget was looked at, and looked at, and looked at. There was nothing sacred about any line in the 60-page budget document. We looked at everything. If that were to be misconstrued as being we cut, and the put back, that is incorrect. We looked at, considered, talked, worried about and waited for you folks to come in and tell us what you wanted -- that didn't happen either. We put the budget together with much effort, time and worry. We listened to the pleas of the administration, took stuff away from the administration and put together what I believe to be a budget in the best interest of the students of SAD44. At no time did this superintendent make recommendations of the magnitude that has been thrown around. If we had that money it would have been taken out of the budget. The only way it can come out now is if you are willing to sacrifice the education of your children."

Harry Faulkner of Bethel said he objected to some of Jenkins' comments.

"It's pretty clear this budget is going to pass, Mr. Jenkins," Faulkner said. "It's also pretty clear that there are a lot of people in this room, and I know there are a lot of people in this town, who are going to resent the tone you just took. When people come to this school committee and ask you to cut your budget, they are painted as people who are opposed to educating our children. . . . The schools across this state have refused to participate in the recession that rest of us have had to participate in. For you to suggest that you waited for us people to come and help you -- Mr. Jenkins, I've been at some of these meetings and the public has very little to say about what happens. So don't suggest it is the public's fault that this budget is crazy and don't suggest the people opposed to this budget are the same group of people who are opposed to educating their children. I resent it."

Following Faulkner's comments a secret ballot vote to move the question was 231 to 23. Voters then immediately lined up again for a secret vote on Dooen's amendment calling for a $300,000 cut. The amendment was defeated 67 to 221.

Scott Dennis of Bethel promptly proposed funding the full amount and asked that the question be moved. (Moderator Bill Cousins announced earlier that any further calls for moving the question would be by hand vote, not secret ballot). Voters agreed to move the motion. The additional local assessment of $1,630,873 was approved by a secret ballot of 214 to 64.

The rest of the budget meeting passed quickly, with voters approving the Adult Education budget of $177,577, and allowing the district to accept all private and public funds.

But before the meeting ended, Bethel director Jane Lowe and chairman Hand objected to some of the questions being called to vote too quickly.

Cousins said he would allow anyone who wanted to comment on the budget or procedure to speak.

Dooen asked the audience to be gracious in victory and defeat.

"The reason this budget went through was because so many people said to me and other people, 'What's the sense of going, they're going to get it anyway,' Dooen said. "That's not true. The vote is the most precious thing we have and when people get out they can carry something that they want."

other relevant information he could find.

"I also had to learn how to explain certain issues," Hughes said, "so that teens and parents aren't appalled about what you're talking about and why you're addressing sexuality."

Presenting information on teen sexuality may be seen as controversial no matter how its done, Savage said.

"We're willing to learn and willing to change, but we want to write about what's needed," Savage said. "We don't want to avoid the tough subjects."

"Whatever we put in this book some people are going to object to it," he said. "You're still going to have people teaching solely abstinence, but abstinence isn't working. People will talk about it and that's what we want them to do. There's endless amounts of books we can do as long as we do the research and have the right material."

Hughes agreed. "There are people out there who deny their kids are sexual and think HIV isn't a threat in their circle," Hughes said. "I see (the comic book) as a teaching tool. If it's passed out in a school health class, the students will get the information, even if they don't usually take part in the discussion. A video might be better, but the teens in our society are forgetting how to read, and maybe this is a way to get them reading, while the comic is still visual."

SAD44 Superintendent of Schools Ronald Jenkins has distributed the comic to the School Board's education committee and asked the Telstar High School health teacher to take a look at it.

"I don't see it as our textbook," Jenkins said, "but it's something that could be passed out, read and will spark conversation in a health class. I found nothing personally offensive in the book. It approaches the matter of AIDS and sexually transmitted disease in a manner that may help our students."

"We can't teach students the dangers of AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases without stirring up some controversy," he said. "If we don't make students aware of the issue then we're missing the point. Health education is no longer just about using floss and eating healthful food. It may have been at some time in the past but it isn't now."

School officials have not decided how the comic book, without condoms enclosed, may be used,

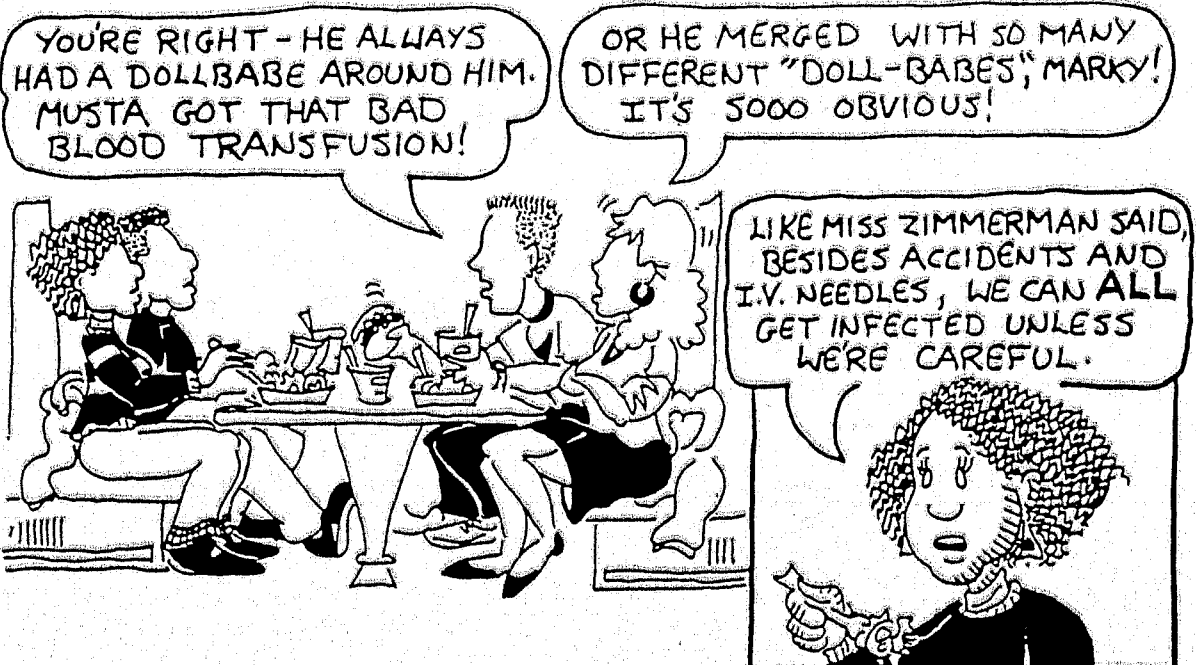

Jenkins said, but it will probably be used as additional reference material in the district's health education program for high school students.

"Condom Comics" is both partner's first venture into the comic book market, but if it takes off and school districts and retailers can be sold on the idea, Savage and Hughes would like to see it go nationwide. Hughes said if the partners are successful he'd like to turn over the drawing of the comic to more "dynamic" comic book artists, like the ones that draw for Superman, Batman and the like.

"I think it could work, and a whole lot more stories could be written from substance abuse to teen pregnancy to self-esteem," Hughes said.

The pair has considered at least 25 more topics, Hughes said, and educating teens on safe practices and just getting accurate information to them will be the main goal.

"The biggest goal with this first book is to remind people that sex is still a positive thing," he said. "Relationships and sex are being taught as dangerous. The better line is that relationships can be wonderful and sexuality is a beautiful thing that can go along with it."

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

The 15th annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show was held on Saturday, May 28, at the Dr. Moses Mason House. This year's theme was railroad in the old days and all entries were to relate to engines, trains, railroad stations, etc., of a bygone era.

The show honors a founder of the Bethel Historical Society, who was an accomplished artist and very interested in art for young people.

Winners were: Division I (Grades one and two), first prize, Ryan Davis of Woodstock Elementary second grade; second prize, Precious Gaudreau of Woodstock Elementary second grade; third prize, Michelle Walker, Woodstock Elementary; Division II (Grades three and four): first prize, Shannon Fyrburg, Andover Elementary; second prize, Christian Morgan, Crescent Park School; third prize, Craig Angevine, Andover Elementary; Division III (grades five and six): first prize, Emily Gilbert, Crescent Park School; second prize, Naomi Young, Crescent Park; Darin Morse, Andover Elementary. Judges were Romeo and Jo Baker of Newry and Judy Hall of Roxbury.

On Sunday, May 29, the annual birthday party for Dr. Moses Mason was observed with a celebration of the 20th anniversary of the opening of the Dr. Mason House to the public. Society Director Stanley R. Howe reviewed some of the highlights of the last two decades, the growth in membership from 50 to more than 1,000, the receipt of hundreds of artifacts added to the collection, special exhibits, programs and publications, numerous awards, several bequests, etc. Howe read several notes from those unable to attend, including Trustee Chairman Margaret Joy Tibbets, who recalled several interviews she did to gather information for articles published in the society's quarterly, "The Bethel Courier." Punch and 20th anniversary cake were enjoyed by all attending.

Gould's top ten for 1994

Gould's top ten graduates for 1994 are:

Gwen Stockwell (Valedictorian). Aside from holding the top senior class rank, Gwen's academic honors are many. She has won academic book prizes in Chemistry and History, has received the Bausch & Lomb Award, is a member of the National Honor Society, and is a Gould Academy Alger Scholar. Gwen has been active in the Choir since coming to Gould as a sophomore. Her athletic prowess is exemplified by a third place finish in the New England Prep School Ski Championships cross-country race after being sidelined for over nearly half the year with a serious injury. She was also a varsity field hockey captain and a member of the varsity tennis team. Gwen will attend Williams College in the fall.

Phoebe Hausman-Rogers (Salutatorian). A leader in this year's revitalization of the National Honor Society, Phoebe's many academic accomplishments include Book Prizes in Junior English, French III, and the Wellesley Book Award. Phoebe has been involved in more activities and clubs than any student in recent years. These include the Big Sister Program, Blue Key and Gold Key societies, Outing Club, Reachout, drama, literary magazine, Polar Bear Club, and the yearbook. Varsity letters in soccer, cross-country skiing, and lacrosse round out her athletic career at Gould. Phoebe will attend Middlebury College.

Patrick Cote is a true scholar-athlete--for four years at Gould Patrick has maintained a consistently superior academic average while executing a year-round program in cross-country ski training that this year resulted in a 5th place finish in the Junior National Championships. Patrick's academic feats include: the French II book award, National Honor Society, junior math book award, and the Rensselaer Award. Patrick is a dorm proctor and has varsity letters in running and lacrosse.

Jessica LeMay has been a consistent honor roll student, with contributions to many organizations, including Blue Key and Amnesty International. This spring Jessica made it all the way to the finals in the Maine Independent School championship tournament in tennis. She will attend Mount Holyoke College in the fall.

Josh Otten is an honor roll student and 1993 inductee into the National Honor Society. He has played varsity sports three seasons for all three of his years at Gould, distinguishing himself as a team leader in soccer, basketball, and baseball. Next fall Josh will attend Wake Forest University.

Daryl Seitzer is an honor roll student and three-season varsity athlete in soccer, alpine skiing, and lacrosse. He has been a member of Blue Key and a dorm proctor. Daryl will attend Clarkson University.

Matthew Thurston has maintained consistently high academics while participating in soccer and varsity lacrosse programs. He has been a member of the Gould Ski Patrol for several seasons, working alongside patrollers at Sunday River Ski Resort. Matt will attend St. Lawrence University.

Nicole Welshimer has been a dorm proctor, choir singer, Big Sister, and member of Gold Key. She has been an honor roll student, and a member of the JV soccer, varsity basketball and varsity lacrosse teams. As varsity lacrosse goalie this spring, she had 135 saves out of 246 shots on goal, helping the team to a 10-2 record. Next year Nicole will attend University.

Rebecca Whitely was a Com-mended Student in the 1994 National Merit Scholarship Program, and has also been instrumental in the rejuvenation of the National Honor Society at Gould. She is a dorm proctor, a Libra Foundation Scholar, a member of Blue Key, and a varsity athlete in skiing, lacrosse, and field hockey. She will attend Mount Holyoke College.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

June is "bustin" out all over meadows and the hills -- and here in Gilead, folks.

The oriole is building his nest back in the apple tree, and enough, the crazy robin is building again on the satellite dish. His sister has decided to outdo her building atop the rafters in a rage on an old crank-case stove overhead. Hummingbirds vie for nectar from their feeder, and gold finches feed nearby on the two bird baths are used frequently and any stray cats are driven away by my husband who has now perfected his dog and growl. We also had a surprise -- an unexpected one on the front yard. More than several ago the late Mrs. Nita Ferraro given us what she called a flower crab tree which she had brought here from New Jersey. We kept it, and for several years it has grown up to be about seven feet tall. My husband had decided that this would cut it down, deciding he had mistakenly informed us of the species. Last night, as I was on the porch, I called my husband from his easy chair. You guess -- our wayward crab tree is blossomed in the beautiful, resembling little crab apples. What a pleasant surprise for both of us. I'm sure pleased as well. A bright spot in the yard and heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Clough traveled to Brunswick, Maine last weekend when they picked up their two boys at the Scout Jamboree held there. The base they were privileged to see many of the large jets at there.

On Thursday last, the Women's Club again got members together to discuss projects -- among them decorative spots with flowers.

On Tuesday last, the Gilead Department was called out to fight fires along the tracks at Locke Mills-Bryant Pond area.

My daughter, Nancy Lee, made a morning visit to me one week with her new puppy, in tow. He's eight weeks old and now shows himself to be intelligent, laid-back, friendly puppy.

Word was received here that Amadon, our good friend and neighbor, has reportedly miraculously from her recent operation. She has been at Memorial Hospital for several weeks. She is eating now and getting about with aid of a walker. Three children, you, Ellen, from all your years here in Gilead. Ellen will live with her daughter, Chapman of Brownfield if she continues to do as well. C. showed all traces of cancer disappeared. A true miracle that Ellen would be here, thank all of you for your prayers in her behalf. As we see, miracles DO happen.

We had to call CMP, to say as we were losing a "leg" that was affecting the operation here in the home. Responded quickly and within quarters of an hour had a viceman here who corrected the problem.

June is "bustin" out all over the meadows and the hills -- and so it is here in Gilead, folks.

I'm sure Nita is pleased as well. A bright spot in our yard and hearts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Coriveau traveled to Brunswick Naval Air Base last weekend where they picked up their two boys at the Boy Scout Jamboree held there. While at the base they were privileged to tour many of the large jets stationed there.

On Thursday last, the Gilead Women's Club again got a few members together to discuss future projects -- among them decorating strategic spots with flowers.

On Tuesday last, the Gilead Fire Department was called out to help fight fires along the tracks in the Locke Mills-Bryant Pond area.

My daughter, Nancy Lee, paid a morning visit to me one day last week with her new puppy, "Bear," in tow. He's eight weeks old and as of now shows himself to be a smart, intelligent, laid-back, friendly little puppy.

Word was received here that Ellen Amadon, our good friend and neighbor, has reportedly gained miraculously from her recent operation. She has been at Stephens Memorial Hospital for the last several weeks. She is eating on her own now and getting about with the aid of a walker. Three cheers for you, Ellen, from all your friends here in Gilead. Ellen will be going to live with her daughter, Peggy Chapman of Brownfield if she continues to do as well. Cat scans showed all traces of cancer to have disappeared. A true miracle! I'm sure that Ellen would want me to thank all of you for your many prayers in her behalf. As you can see, miracles DO happen.

We had to call CMP, to our home as we were losing a "leg" of power that was affecting the operation of appliances here in the home. CMP responded quickly and within three-quarters of an hour had a serviceman here who corrected the problem.

"Arthur," our mailman, mistakenly left Geraldine Luxton's rose bushes here at our residence. As we were expecting cherry trees to arrive, I did not notice his error until late evening. As we had opened the bushes, I called Mrs. Luxton and she came after them, as they had started to leaf out. I hope "Arthur" does not leave our cherry trees somewhere else. So, if any of you get some cherry trees soon, they are ours. We also will speedily retrieve them.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

This morning a mist rose above the pond and like pins in a cushion the pines, one after another appeared on the slopes beyond.

The thrushes' outwelling of song was giving joy and vitality to the countryside that had been in slumber land for so long. These birds possess all the liquid notes of the tiniest streams, delicate trills of softness and richness, so hard to describe but so wonderful to hear.

Various other birds were my constant companions when I went out for a walk. I especially noticed the bumblebees today for I had seen none before. They were eagerly searching for the sweetness of flowers. It seemed good to see them once again.

"Give me the wing of the morning, Rosy-tipped pinions of dawn, Before the song bird awakens, Before the night shadows are gone.

Give me strong wings that can hover High as an eagle -- and free, Where roads tie mountains together.

Where rivers are searching the sea, Give me the wings of the morning Before the hurrying day Shatters the soft hush of the dawn And steals its beauty away."

(Ruby Searway) I saw my first June bug of the season, also. These things bang our window screens and grow from fat white grubs that live on the roots of plants. The grubs grow into brown beetles big as a man's fingernail, that eat the leaves of trees and bushes. At dusk they search for artificial light. Their flight is awkward and bumbling. They don't bite or sting. They don't eat holes in clothing.

I returned home amidst laughter on wings; the swallows on wings deserve the laurel, for their mastery of the air is absolute. I enjoy them.

What a nice gift I had on Saturday! I left home to attend a Retired Teachers' meeting in Oxford. My yard and grounds were still littered with small branches and last fall's leaves, but when I returned all had been cleared away. It looked like a new place; thanks to my Curtis nephews and nieces and spouses. They had made a big difference in the appearance of the place. It's nice to be thought about. I said to my driver as she slowed down to let me out, "Why are you stopping, I don't live here." How dear they all are.

Those who know Doris Hayes, who taught here in Greenwood several years -- she is at Ledgewood Manor, North Windham. She will welcome cards.

David and daughter Mary visited his parents, Leonas and Fay Holt on Sunday.

Several of Rena Curtis' children visited her on Sunday. Bertha Cole, Norway, and Florence Loughnan, Oxford, both were pupils at my school many years ago, came to visit me on Monday.

Four of our fishermen spent last weekend at Moosehead Lake. They reported a good time with perfect weather.

Community Day is this Sunday, June 5, starting at 12 noon. It will be at the Town Office and promises to be a lot of fun. The pie-eating contest is as much fun to watch as it is to participate in. And the egg-toss is always a challenge. There will be a Battle of the Rivers softball game, so don't forget your baseball glove. Come compete in the egg-toss or relay races, or if you'd like something a bit slower-paced, how about croquet or cards? The Recreation Committee will serve hot dogs, hamburgers and drinks. Please bring a salad or dessert to share. Hope to see you there.

Services were performed Sunday, May 22, at the Newry Community Church with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the Pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was: "Touched by the Spirit," from Ezekiel 37:1-14 --

"And the hand of the Lord was upon me, and carried me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set me down in the midst of the Valley which was full of bones, and Behold...I will cause breath to enter into you and ye shall live."

The Newry Church Ladies Circle met at president Sylvia Wight's on May 23 at noon, with devotion, "Our Way and God's Way," from King Solomon Psalm 127. Secretary-treasurer Freda Robertson read the last meeting notes and brought the finances up to date. Also, some thank-you letters were read from Nancy Anderson, Olive Anderson and Polly Browne of the "New Tribe Mission." The circle gave Nancy a gift for playing the organ at the church. There will be no meeting in June, and the next one will be July 13 at Louise Tetley's residence at 12:30 p.m. Coffee and dessert was enjoyed and the meeting was adjourned.

Don't forget the Newry Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary public supper on Saturday, June 4, at the Grange Hall at 5:30 p.m. Bring a hot dish or dessert (rolls, coffee and punch will be furnished). A 50/50 raffle and hats at $4, mugs at $5 will be sold to help with the food "cache" for the firemen when they fight fires. Everyone welcome, come and enjoy.

The result of the Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club's lawn sale for the retarded at Newry Corner was very successful, and the club wants to thank everyone who donated "stuff" and also all those who did all the work...God Bless.

Members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" who went to the Oxford Lanes, South Paris, were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Doris Parent, Irene Hadfield and Olive Anderson. Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. On the overall scores Karlene was high on the triples and singles. Of the "Righties," Irene was high on the triples and singles. Betsy had three spares, Karlene had two spares, and Gil had two spares and one strike.

"Briefly": My good neighbor Ras Bachelder was at it again this year...trimming my lawn...I am a lucky person. "A friend is worth all hazards we can run"...Thank you, Ras.

The Andover Alumni Committee is hosting the annual banquet on Saturday, June 4, at the Elementary School. The guest speaker is Steve Hall, Class of 1956. The social hour begins at 4:30 p.m. followed by the awards presentation, dinner, and the evening's entertainment -- the "Canary Goose" band. Tickets for the event may be reserved by calling Sharon Farrington at 392-1603.

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865 Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met in regular form on Wednesday night, May 25, with seven members present. President Leslie Dean opened the meeting at 7 p.m. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Letters were read from the Veterans Home again thanking the members for the warm hats, etc., donated to them. A monthly newsletter was read from Maine State Department president Gail Butterfield. Regular business was transacted and the memorial program was held for the deceased members by laying on the red, white and blue carnations and reading the names of past members with appropriate prayers.

After the meeting, the members participated in a silent auction of various articles. Articles left over are to be taken to convention in Waterville, which is being held this year at Howard Johnson Motor Lodge on June 23-24. The next meeting will be at the Church vestry on Wednesday, June 15.

Sarah Grover celebrated her 96th birthday with family and friends at the Lodgeview Memorial Home. Happy Birthday, Sarah!

Troy Nelson and Everett Morrison of Troop 155, Boy Scouts, left home Friday with Jim Morrison for the Boy Scouts' campout at Brunswick Naval Air Station. There were about ten thousand participating in the program where they worked for badges. They had a parade, jet flyovers and fireworks. Tim Sample was one of the entertainers. It was a busy weekend for them all. Dale and Matthew Nelson were with the Lovell Cub Scouts, Pack 155, also.

On May 21, Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Millett, Sr., entertained at an engagement party at the local fire station for Edward Millett, Jr., and Michelle Ward. Many relatives and friends attended.

One day this past week Sister and I ventured over to the new super-duper Shop 'n Save in Oxford. We thought we would get lost together. (Husband thought it was something to need a map to find one's way around.). It's OK but hard for older people who just want bread and milk and have to walk a long way to get it, as they are far apart.

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Keith T. Grover, who passed away at his home in South Paris. He was the son of Rodney T. and Miriam Grover, who lived here in East Stoneham.

The Thrift Shop opened and a bake sale held this past Saturday was a good success at the East Stoneham Church. There will be another one this Saturday, and hopefully many more. Just look for the sign out there.

Congratulations to all the seniors graduating this year. We have one, Greg Burris from Fryeburg Academy, and of course our grandson Eric from Oxford Hills High School. We wish them well in their future plans.

I spent a week recently at my daughter's in Otisfield. On Monday she drove me to Portland for my medical appointments. One evening we attended the Oxford Hills Band Jamboree featuring the O.H.H.S. Band, the O.H. Junior High School Band and the SAD17 District Band, of which Jonathan Bean was a member.

Mrs. Helen Curtis of Mechanic Falls brought me home Friday and spent the weekend with me.

Mrs. Louise Newton has returned to her cottage here after wintering in Florida. She has been visiting her mother almost daily, who is hospitalized in Norway.

Norma and David Salway were in Portland last Saturday and attended the Sea Dogs ball game. Brandon and Tara Salway of Old Orchard Beach joined them there.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poisson of Nashua, N.H., were at their cottage here last weekend.

Mrs. Ethel Turner of Otisfield visited here last Monday afternoon.

Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Kay Eames and family. What a nice tribute to his father, written by son Bill in Texas.

Friends in this area are sorry to learn that Mrs. Laurice (Theo) Morrill of Freeport suffered a stroke recently.

Water levels in the pond, brooks and streams remain high due to all the recent rain, but how nice to see Nature dressed in her Spring green -- even tho' a white frost was on all this morning.

Regardless of how expensive an education is, it will never be as expensive as ignorance.

Driven by strong winds this morning the waters of the pond look more like a fast flowing river.

Mrs. Millie Wentzell with her daughter and husband, Bob and Mary Eichel, have returned to their summer cottage. Also Mrs. Louise Newton returned earlier. I wrote the Songo news last week, but for some reason, whatever, they were not published (see above).

Mrs. Helen Curtis of Mechanic Falls spent a weekend with me recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bancroft attended the ninetieth birthday party honoring his sister Mrs. Thelma Merrill recently held at the Chef's Table in Norway.

Mrs. Marion Arsenault, formerly Marion Lapham of this area, is undergoing cancer treatments at a Portland hospital.

Joyce and Ellsworth Hathaway have returned home after touring around the United States. They visited the Grand Canyon plus many more interesting places. It's good to have them back and see Ellsworth on his tractor heading for the mill.

What a family reunion we had! Ninety-one people came to Richard and Andrea Wing's home. Everything went well, and it was a beautiful, warm and sunny day -- the first one this summer. A polluck dinner was held with every kind of food imaginable. Thanks to Sherry Poland who helped entertain the many young children with games and a parachute. Families started gathering at about 11 a.m. and some stayed until 8 p.m. We really enjoyed seeing everyone. Those attending were: from Tempe, Ariz.: Dotte Critser; from Campton, N.H.: Evelyn and James Dunn; from Woodstock: Claribel Poland, Megan Mack, Leon and Rosalie Poland, Lloyd, Gina, Natasha and Alex Poland, Vernon and Tommy Poland, Dennis, Debbie and Brandy Poland, Richard and Andrea Wing, Emery, Cleo, Troy and Alex Ryerson, Louis Gallant, Joe Pete, Laurene and Danielle Appleby, Erlon, Maude Alice and Alan Hadley, Allison and Janet Benson; from West Paris: Rick, Karon, Ryan and Doug Wing, Derek and Jaime Leonard, Aili Benson, Maurise Veatch, Phelps, Joan, Todd, Lynda, Erik, Tim and Patty Poland, Phil, Terry, Amy and Andrew Merrill, Larry, Pam, Erick, Dylan, Camrin Poland and Dallas Cole; from Bethel: Judi Brown, Tammy, Chea, Bailey and Emma Davis, Ken, Tracy, Samantha, Brooke, Ken and Alexis Grover; from South Paris: Sandra, Jamie, Tara, Erica and Ian Monzo, Brad and Linsey Record, Kellie, Sarah and Jessie Hart; from Lewiston: Sherri Poland, Dee Beck and John Dow; from South Portland:

Kyle, Rachel, Cody, Kailin and Casey Curtis; from Norway: Donna Kusheba; from Freeport: Bob and Alberta Harlow.

There were two sets of twins who attended; they were Tracy and Ken Grover's boy and girl, Brooke and Ken, 4, and Larry and Pam Poland's twin boys, Derick and Dylan, 1.

When cleaning up after the reunion we found a few things that do not belong to us. They are a yellow lawn chair, glass casserole with cover and quite a few holders. If you know whose they are let me know and I'll see they get returned.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that he has given an antique basket, a philosophy book, and some postcards to the society. The society hopes you will take an interest in our area's background and traditions. Have you traced your family tree? What authors, composers, or artists most interest you? What are your favorite films on television programs? Such things are part of your personal history. A film will be shown at the next meeting, and do visit the museum when you get a chance. There are many new exhibits in the museum this summer.

Don't forget the 50th reunion of the 1944 Woodstock High School graduating class.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that it is impossible to accomplish anything worthwhile without the help of other people."

BOOKS • N • THINGS
"Between The Lines"

Dear Friends,
We're pleased to announce that we are now carrying "Norway, Maine in the 1840's," by Dr. Osgood Bradbury, edited by Norway's own Rev. Donald McAllister. The Norway Historical Society has made the book available, and Books • N • Things will be selling this hard cover book for a special price of $18.00 plus tax.
The book, historically accurate and interesting, describes life in small town Maine before the Civil War, from 1886 to 1877. Dr. Bradbury wrote a series of articles for the weekly paper, looking back fifty years. Also included are genealogical details of early settlers.
We still have a few copies of the May issue of DownEast which features the Town of Norway in the Spring. We know that they've been a bit hard to find.

Voters agree to let right-of-way go

WEST PARIS--Twenty-four townspeople voted last week at a special Town Meeting to discontinue a right-of-way and rescinded a $1,168 donation to the Oxford Hills Development Council.

Voters agreed to discontinue a portion of old Route 26 at Trap Corner, which will be conveyed to C.N. Brown Co. to make room for a Big Apple store to be built this summer.

Townspeople also voted to spend $4,173, in addition to $13,830 raised at Town Meeting, to repair watermain. The repairs will raise town Water District rates by 60 percent.

Selectmen also announced last week that for the third year in a row the town has been awarded a $1,500 state grant to buy and plant trees for beautification. The town put up a matching $1,500. Selectmen plan to plant 20 red maples along Briggs, Pioneer and Main streets. Deer Crossing Farm of Woodstock was awarded the planting contract with a bid of $2,745.

Kitten will stay in the Big Apple

MANHATTAN--Kerri Arsenault of Bethel reports that her kitten is still living in a Manhattan apartment.

A New York City couple took the bobtail cat into their Bethel Inn room over Christmas vacation, and when they couldn't find the owner they took the cat home with them.

"They won't return him and the police won't do anything about it," Arsenault said. "They had him declawed and I would feel bad bringing him back now, because I wouldn't want to keep him in, and he wouldn't be able to defend himself."

Arsenault said she's looking to adopt another striped bobtail kitten.

Selectmen want road ground survey

NEWRY--Selectmen plan to ask the Newry Planning Board to require a ground survey before Sunday River Ski Resort gets approval for its proposed secondary access road.

Town Code Enforcement Officer Norm Putnam recommended the survey. The survey would give the town more details on culverts, use of fill, road cuts and curve angles.

Train lights fires along track

WOODSTOCK--Firefighters fought 20 spot fires late Wednesday afternoon along a five-mile stretch of railroad track in Woodstock. About 50 firemen from Bethel, Woodstock, Greenwood, Gilead and Newry spent four hours putting out the blazes. The grass fires damaged about 20 acres of mostly brush and a few trees, according to Maine Forest Service officials. Firefighters used tank trucks and Indian pumps, and a Maine Forest Service helicopter dropped water along the tracks. A spotter plane was also used to assess the scope of the fires. A command post was set up at the Bryant Pond Post Office to direct firefighters. Tri-Town and Bethel rescue personnel stood by at the scene, but no injuries were reported.

Paleo-Indian artifacts unearthed

TURNER--Archaeologists are excavating a prehistoric Indian site which they believe will be the only documented one of its kind east of the Mississippi River. Spear points and hide scrapers were dug up within three feet of the surface of a cow pasture along the Nezinscot River. The site was probably inhabited by Paleo-Indians approximately 10,000 years ago. The tools taken from the site will help document the time period. The site also contains the charcoal remains of a fire pit, which can be carbon tested to estimate within a few hundred years when the land was inhabited.

A talk on another archaeological find at the Wal-Mart construction site in Oxford attracted 60 people last week. Evidence of people living along the Little Androscoggin River 10,000 years ago were unearthed last July at the site. Wal-Mart is leaving the section of the property that primitive artifacts were found on untouched by construction until archaeological work is finished.

Deputies at N.H. parade take heat

PARIS--Two Oxford County Sheriff's Department officers who attended a Law Enforcement Appreciation Day parade at New Hampshire International Speedway were asked by local newspapers last week if taxpayers' money was spent on the trip. Oxford County Chief Deputy Jim Davis said he sent a salaried deputy with a cruiser, and a part-time deputy to play McGruff the crime dog. The salaried deputy would have been paid anyway, Davis said, and the deputy who portrayed McGruff was paid $38.50. Oxford County commissioners will probably discuss the April 17 trip to the speedway at their next meeting.

Loon plates selling quickly

AUGUSTA--Maine's new loon plates are selling fast. About 27,000 were sold in April, the first month of issue, according to Secretary of State Bill Diamond, who predicted 30,000 more would be sold in May. The Bethel Town office sold its first 25 loon plates in two weeks, according to town officials. The 100 more plates the state sent are also selling well, and the town has also sold several gift certificates for loon plates. Half the $20 yearly fee for the plates goes toward manufacturing them and the other $10 is split between the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife for an endangered species fund, and the Department of Conservation.

The resort also set another record, its 14th, in skier visits this season. The record came despite a slow start caused by bitterly cold weather during late December and early January.

Altogether, Sunday River recorded 528,046 skier visits this season, compared to 525,000 last season.

Summer construction plans at the Newry skiway include two new lifts and five trails.

The mountain bike park, which opened Saturday, will be open weekends only until July 4.

Baseball

Telstar 4, Leavitt 3

Telstar High School upset Mountain Valley Conference leader Leavitt last week in an eight inning, 4-3 win.

The Rebels took an early lead Saturday against the Hornets scoring two runs in the first inning.

In the first inning, Clint Myers, who went two for three on the day, and Sean Gilson had consecutive singles. Adam Newell loaded the bases when the Hornet right fielder dropped a pop-up. Chris Howe cashed in on the error with a driving line drive into left field, sending Myers and Gilson home.

Pitcher Tim Remington, who coach Bob Remington said didn't have his best stuff going for him, held the Hornets to only three base runners in the first four innings. Leavitt came up with one unearned run in the fifth. But the Rebels bounced back with one run in the bottom of fifth. Josh Adams walked, went to third on a throwing error and came home on a single by Peter Miserochci.

The Hornets tied the score, 3-3, in the sixth on two hits and one error. From there neither team could manage any threats as Leavitt pitcher Barry Turcotte and Remington were matching each other pitch for pitch, the coach said, sending the game into extra innings.

The game ended abruptly in the bottom of the eighth when sophomore first baseman Adam Newell took Turcotte's 0-1 pitch deep to right field for Newell's first home run of the season.

Telstar 9, Mt. Abram 1

Telstar High School senior Chris Howe had an outstanding game Friday, as Telstar beat Mt. Abram 9-1.

Howe went three for four, driving in four runs. Sean Gilson drove in two runs and scored three times. Chipping in singles were Adam Newell, Ken Mason, Cory Koch, Josh Adams and Peter Miserochci.

Rebel freshman right hander Tim Herbert was called up from the junior varsity team for his first varsity start of the season. He went the distance on the mound allowing only one run on five hits, no walks and four strike outs.

The outstanding defensive plays of the day were turned in by Tim Remington at shortstop and Gilson in centerfield, according to coach Bob Remington.

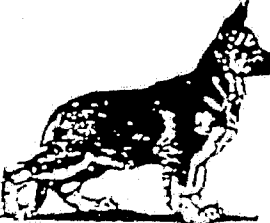

Telstar 11, Livermore 3

Telstar High School scored in every inning except the seventh May 23, beating Livermore Falls 11-3.

Clint Myers led the hitting attack with three singles and two RBIs. Adam Newell, Chris Howe and Ken Mason each chipped in two hits, all singles. Cory Koch had the only extra-base hit, a triple. Tim Remington, Wade Luxton and Peter Miserochci each had a hit.

"Pitching was the highlight of the game," said coach Bob Remington. "Sean Gilson pitch a crafty seven innings, allowing just three hits while striking out 14 to improve his record to four to one."

Country Store on Route 2.

Dave Nivus, whose home and brewing supplies shop is located across the road, asked developer Rick Savage if the store would have an on-premises liquor license or RV waste dump.

Savage said no on both counts. A public hearing is still to be held on the project, and accurate floodplain elevations determined.

The board also agreed last week that Dennis Wilson's proposal for adding 36 more seats to Bethel

Pizza, on Main Street, would require a site plan review.

Bethel Station

At a special meeting tonight the board is scheduled to continue its review of the Bethel Station Project.

Tonight's meeting will be the first board meeting to include representatives of Hunter-Norris P.A., the engineering and technical consulting company hired by the town to review the project.

From the Bethel Police log:

OUI arrests, first skateboard of the season confiscated

Police confiscated the first skateboard of the summer season last week from a Newry juvenile who had already been warned it is against town ordinances to ride a skateboard on the sidewalk.

Police also made four recent arrests, three for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of an intoxicant.

On May 22, police arrested Warren M. Jones, 37, of North Waterford for OUI, possession of a usable amount of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Later in the day, police arrested Diane Ogden, 39, of Providence, R.I. for OUI, after she refused to take a road field test. On May 29, Michael Schreiber, 21, of North Conway was arrested for OUI.

On May 27, police arrested Barbara Hart, 45, of Bethel for operating a motor vehicle after license suspension.

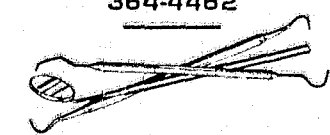

In other police news last week, on May 25, police accompanied a Bridge Street man to Bethel Park Apartments where he recovered a bike he told police was stolen from his daughter.

On May 26, police transported a transient to the Rumford Police Station, where he was turned over to a homeless shelter volunteer.

On May 28, a Main Street business reported receiving a harassing, and somewhat threatening, phone call from a client. No charges were filed.

On May 31, a Main Street business owner reported that while cleaning her front windows two BB holes were discovered. Replacement cost were estimated at $800.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE TO CONSERVATION SCHOOL

Sound natural resource conservation is well recognized as a prerequisite for quality of life and human health. The success of present and future natural resource conservation efforts directly depends on young peoples' awareness and understanding of Maine's natural resources and management.

To help develop an awareness of the importance of wildlife and conservation, the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife will sponsor two one-week sessions for youths aged 12 to 14, at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. Both boys and girls are encouraged to attend.

The department will offer $120 scholarships to 120 campers to offset the $150 regularly charged tuition fee. Campers will pay only $30, and are required to submit a current physical examination form, to participate in a fun-filled wildlife and conservation education experience at the school. There are no prerequisites for campers applying for scholarships, except that they have a strong interest in wildlife and the out-of-doors.

The two one-week sessions available in 1994 will run from July 10 through 15, and July 17 through 22. Sixty students will be able to attend each week-long session, and will be selected on a first come, first served basis. Please contact the school directly for more information and an application form at: Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Scholarship Sessions, Maine Conservation School, P.O. Box 188, Bryant Pond, ME 04219-0188, or phone 665-2068.

Welcome to the Chamber's newest member, Lake Region Awards on Main Street, Norway, George and Jean Rubly, owners.
Members are reminded about the upcoming Business After Hours, Monday, June 6, at the Stony Brook Campground, Route 2, Hanover, from 5 to 7:30 p.m.
Also, a reminder of the Bethel Selectmen's Candidates Forum to be held on Wednesday, June 1, at Telstar High School at 7 p.m. Many thanks to Bob Laux of Creative Management Associates for devoting a lot of time and energy into this forum.
Many thanks to Key Bank for sponsoring a great breakfast meeting at the Sudbury Inn on Thursday, May 26. The information shared is very useful.
The chamber encourages businesses to send representatives to the "Effective Service for Diverse Customers" workshop to be held twice on Friday, June 3, from 9 a.m. to noon or 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., sponsored by the Bethel Area Task Force. Registration is $10 per person. For more information, call the Adult Education office at 824-2780.
The first NTL Institute labs are beginning on Monday, June 6. We are very excited to be heading into another NTL season.

Art Fair Purchase Prize Program

The 5th Annual Bethel Art Fair Committee would like to invite any residents and/or businesses to purchase a work of art at this year's festival (July 2 and 3) through the Purchase Prize Program. For $150, any individual or business can choose among up to one-hundred or more pieces of art that (in many cases) are valued at a much higher price. By participating in this program we are benefited in at least two ways: 1) As a program participant you buy a piece of art for a great price, and 2) The Art Fair Committee can let the participating artists know that there are guaranteed sales.

Most successful art fairs across the country have large purchase prize programs. The Norway Sidewalk Art Show has 18 Purchase Prizes, which really helps to attract a lot of artists. If Norway can do it, we can do it! If you are interested in finding out more about this opportunity, please contact one of the committee members: Gail Giarusso, Tom McGinniss or Rene McGrew, or call the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce office at 824-2282.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individual needs, etc.

If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269 for pick-up.

Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!
